MEET THE FACILITATORS

LONGEVITY & WELLBEING LEAD; SYSTEMIC IMPACT

Sharon Cittone leads Vivra's Systemic Impact — exploring how food, health, longevity and planetary wellbeing are deeply connected. Founder and CEO of Edible Planet Ventures and a voice at the Milan Longevity Summit, she brings together science, innovation and collaboration to drive systemic change.

Today, she leads the Milan Longevity Summit, hosts the FoodTech Junkies podcast, serves as Global Chair for Food Innovation at G100, and advises organizations including the World Food Programme Italia and the World Agriculture Forum. Across her work, she connects health, technology, food, and ancient wisdom to drive systemic change.

"I believe the future of food is collaborative. I work every day in creating and strengthening a global food ecosystem that touches on every vertical and gives all stakeholders the possibility to collaborate together."
— Sharon Cittone

HEALING

Bridging quantum science and deep intuition, Saha unlocks profound human transformation. As a Quantum Healing Hypnosis Technique (QHHT) and Reconnective Healing practitioner, he facilitates global sessions to break limiting patterns and activate the body's innate well-being.

He guides journeys from the head to the heart, helping people find peace in the present by healing the past through pure consciousness.

“Healing is going from the head to the heart to reclaim our wholeness. I help people find peace in the present by healing the past.” — Saha

HEALING

While fluent in German, Arabic, and English, Dunja's most profound conversations happen beyond words. As an interspecies communicator and founder of Animal Assisted Intuitive Transformation (AAIT), she bridges the gap between humans and animals.

Through Pet Talks, she facilitates global healing sessions with horses, household pets, and wildlife to restore our natural state of planetary interconnectedness and harmonious coexistence.

"I speak German, Arabic, and English, but my most rewarding conversations are the telepathic, energetic, and intuitive communications I have with other species." — Dunja

WELLNESS

Diana is the founder of Human State Mastery and VIVRA's retreat operator, bringing together yoga, breathwork and extensive experience in curating private wellness retreats.

Her work focuses on helping people become more present, grounded and connected to themselves, to others and to the experience unfolding around them.

Diana also co-founded empowerment experiences in Dubai, organizing exclusive retreats in Oman, UAE, Sri Lanka, Bali, Kyrgyzstan and Ibiza, among other places.

"Any person in any season of life can live better when they are regulated and connected, and that is the mission of Human State." — Diana

MEET THE ORGANIZER

FRANCISCO PELLEGRINI, Founder and CEO of VIVRA

Francisco is bringing over 15 years of international experience as an entrepreneur, venture builder and growth executive across the GCC, Europe and Latin America.

He has launched and scaled businesses across multiple sectors, raised multimillion dollars in funding and expanded ventures into 15+ markets. At VIVRA, he leads the vision, strategy and growth of a new platform connecting wellbeing, longevity, human potential, systemic impact, healing and meaningful global communities.

“VIVRA was born from a simple belief: the way we live, connect and grow can be more conscious, more meaningful and ultimately more human.” — Fran Pellegrini
